Summary Grants and Donations to Healthcare Organisations by Medicines Australia Member Companies

Company: Amgen Australia Pty Ltd
Number of grants & donations made: 9
For the period: 01 May 2025 - 31 December 2025

Date (month/year) on which the grant or donation was made	Name of Healthcare Organisation	Description of the purpose of the grant or donation	Total monetary value of the grant or donation made in this reporting period ($ AUD ex GST)
January 2025	Australian Cancer Research Foundation	This grant supported the Australian Cancer Research Foundation (ACRF), a not-for-profit organisation that funds cancer research in Australia based on priorities identified by the scientific and medical community. Over a three-year period, this initiative aims to advance gender diversity in oncology by conducting surveys focused on women in cancer research, providing project management support, and developing initiatives such as a webinar series for women in cancer research leadership and a preceptorship study tour grant.	$302,000
May 2025	Western Health-Sunshine & Footscray Hospitals	This grant supported Western Health-Sunshine & Footscray Hospital, which manages the highest volume of acute coronary syndrome cases of any health network in Victoria, in optimising lipid management protocols for high-risk secondary prevention patients. Over a 12-month period, the initiative focuses on program development, staff training, and targeted interventions to drive sustained practice change and improve patient outcomes.	$145,000
June 2025	Australian Atherosclerosis Society Inc	This donation supported the Atherosclerosis Society of Australia (AAS) and its Familial Hypercholesterolaemia (FH) Australasia Network in improving awareness, detection, and optimal care for Familial Hypercholesterolaemia across Australia and New Zealand, while enabling cascade testing, expanding patient recruitment in underrepresented regions, and strengthening longitudinal cardiovascular data to inform research and treatment strategies. Through the FH registry, managed by the University of Western Australia, this collaborative network of specialists advances clinical care and research in FH and related lipid disorders through high-quality data collection and national coordination.	$15,000
July 2025	Australasian Leukaemia & Lymphoma Group	This donation supported the Australasian Leukaemia & Lymphoma Group (ALLG) in its mission to deliver better treatments and improved outcomes in blood cancer through high-quality clinical trials, laboratory research, and national collaboration. The ALLG established the National Blood Cancer Registry to capture real-world data across a range of haematological malignancies, enabling prospective data and sample collection to support initiatives such as LS17-Regallia. This project focuses on understanding the molecular and genomic basis of high-risk acute lymphoblastic leukaemia in adults, with participants recruited across major treatment centres and contributing clinical data and blood samples for advanced genomic sequencing. The program enables real-time sample processing and comprehensive disease classification in line with current international standards.	$42,500

Date (month/year) on which the grant or donation was made	Name of Healthcare Organisation	Description of the purpose of the grant or donation	Total monetary value of the grant or donation made in this reporting period ($ AUD ex GST)
July 2025	Healthy Bones Australia	This donation supported Healthy Bones Australia (HBA), a national not-for-profit organisation representing consumer bone health, in raising awareness of early diagnosis for those at risk of osteoporosis and advocating for its recognition as a leading chronic disease in Australia. HBA led end-to-end project management, including hosting an expert forum in Sydney with clinical leaders in osteoporosis and developing a concise GP statement to complement the 2024 RACGP Guidelines. The resource addresses new treatment access, investigation of at-risk patients, and key clinical considerations such as high-risk patient identification, treatment duration, side effects, and fracture risk reduction, with national printing and dissemination to support general practitioners.	$15,000
August 2025	Queensland University of Technology - Institute of Health & Biomedical Innovation - Genomics Research Centre	This grant supported Queensland University of Technology, a leading Australian university and home to the Centre for Genomics and Personalised Health, in delivering a collaborative program aimed at strengthening the skills and capabilities of mid-career life scientists and entrepreneurs in the Australian biotech sector. The program selects up to 100 participants annually from across Australia to participate in a combination of face-to-face and online training covering the key disciplines involved in the commercialisation of new medicines.	$20,000
November 2025	Australian Fragility Fracture Foundation SOS Fracture Alliance	This donation supported the Australian National SOS Fracture Alliance, a not-for-profit organisation representing a broad coalition of medical, allied health, and patient advocacy groups, in improving the care of people with osteoporosis across Australia. The Alliance has developed nationally agreed clinical standards, following extensive consultation, to guide identification, investigation, intervention, and integration of care in fracture prevention services, addressing the current lack of consistent benchmarks. These standards aim to close significant gaps in osteoporosis care, where many patients do not receive appropriate follow-up or treatment after fracture, and promote the quality use of pharmacological therapies. Funding supports the printing and distribution of these standards to enable national dissemination and uptake.	$5,000

Date (month/year) on which the grant or donation was made	Name of Healthcare Organisation	Description of the purpose of the grant or donation	Total monetary value of the grant or donation made in this reporting period ($ AUD ex GST)
December 2025	Western Sydney Local Health District	This donation supported the integration of point-of-care testing into the Cardiometabolic Clinic at Blacktown Hospital, part of the Western Sydney Local Health District, to address care delays and underdiagnosis in a highly diverse community with a significant cardiovascular disease burden. The initiative includes the purchase of testing equipment for lipid panels, HbA1c, and urine ACR, along with consumables and staff training, enabling real-time risk assessment and immediate treatment decisions during structured follow-up visits. The program aims to support earlier intervention, improve medication adherence, and increase the likelihood of patients achieving clinical targets, while enhancing care coordination across specialties. It also promotes quality use of medicines through informed prescribing and is supported by staff education and quality assurance, building on prior work and addressing identified service gaps.	$30,000
December 2025	Sydney Local Health District	This donation supported Sydney Local Health District, in collaboration with Royal Prince Alfred Hospital and other NSW institutions, in implementing a quality improvement initiative to strengthen secondary prevention following acute coronary syndrome. This project addresses gaps in the consistent use of guideline-recommended lipid-lowering therapies by embedding structured processes into routine care. Key activities include initiating appropriate therapy during hospitalisation, introducing a standardised discharge proforma for general practitioners with clear follow-up guidance, providing pre-filled lipid test requests, and supporting follow-up through a part-time clinical research nurse. The initiative aims to improve treatment optimisation, support continuity of care post-discharge, and promote quality use of medicines through enhanced monitoring, education, and system integration.	$50,000
